Operational

USAGE Evaluation of the Hungarian Exile Press

Reference: WGLR-1743

1. It is the opinion here that there is no need of having USAGE engage in press evaluation or reporting on the press. If the publications you mention contain information of operational value, they can be obtained and evaluated through our own channels.

2. Did USAGE himself request a decision on this matter? He would be interested in knowing whether he offered to expand his press evaluation services or whether this is merely one aspect of his work which has come to your attention during the present assessment period. A few of the last USAGE reports received clearly indicate that one of his Hungarian contacts is engaged in reporting on the Hungarian exile press and emigre matters. This Hungarian source is identified only as 6711a. Is the latter a member of the KATZACH group?
